RUSSIAN PAPER

Discards the Mask Regarding Czar's Designs.

Three Thousand Russians Drown While Crossing Lake Baikal.

France Explains Why She is Sending Force to East Moscow Firms Suffer Loss--Czar Forces Arrive Near Wiju on Yalu River Where a Big Battle is Expected Soon.

VIENNA, Feb. 19.—(Bulletin)—The newspaper Marcial Listy prints a report today that two regiments of Russian pioneers and one regiment of railway troops, 3,000 men in all, have been drowned while crossing Lake Baikal. Lake Baikal is on the direct route from Russia to Manchuria. It is over the ice of this body of water that the Russians have been trying to build a railway.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The reply of Russia to Secretary Hay's recent circular note was received at the State department this morning. Officials of the department would give no definite information respecting the reply. Its contents have been transmitted by the department to the governments of China and Japan. It is not believed that Russia has accepted the suggestions of the United States. In fact, it is understood that the reply is so worded as practically to amount to a rejection of Secretary Hay's request.

TOKIO, Feb. 19.—Foreign Minister Kumuri declares today that war is being waged by Japan not for conquest, but for a defense of just rights and interests. Japan, he asserts, has therefore no intention of acquiring territory at the expense of China. Any action taken on Chinese territory by the Japanese will be wholly the result of military necessity and not with any desire to impair Chinese sovereignty.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 19.—The newspaper Svet today discards its mask regarding Russia's designs in Korea and frankly states that the country must pass under Russian control as a matter of self-preservation. The paper adds: "We have every confidence that our army will shortly begin operations in Korea, and drive out Japan. Whereupon we must annex the country and establish a garrison at Seoul, Youghamphoo, Massapo and elsewhere."

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 19.—The Pekin correspondent of Russ, wires that U. S. Minister Conger has requested the Japanese minister to refrain from circulating news regarding Japanese victories, as it tends to excite the Chinese to a threatening degree.

MOSCOW, Feb. 19.—It seems that the Japanese traders who were in haste to leave Vladivostok, Port Arthur and Dalmat, and who sold their goods for five cents on the dollar had all their goods on credit from Moscow trading houses who have suffered great financial losses as a result.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—It is explained that the sending of French reinforcements to the far East has no sinister significance whatever. An official explanation of this move issued today, states that the general unrest among the Asiatics due to the Japanese victories is likely to extend to French Indo-China, and consequently the French forces there require strengthening.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Today's stock market here was nervous and lower with a reflection on the feeling on the continental bourses that other powers will become involved in the Russo-Japanese conflict.

SEOUL, Feb. 19.—The report that 3000 Russian troops had arrived at Chintienchang, opposite Wiju, on the Yalu river, is confirmed, as is the report that the Russians have occupied Wiju itself. They have 2,000 troops at Wiju, and the first collision is expected somewhere in that vicinity.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The Russian government has informed the state department that, owing to its inability to make what it regards as a dutiable display of Russian products at the Louisiana Purchase exposition, it has abandoned the idea of making an exhibit.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 19.—A long official dispatch from Viceroy Alexieff, recounting the details of the fight of February 9 at Port Arthur, is given out. It enumerates the Russian casualties and says it is known that a number of Japanese ships suffered severely, which accounts for their not following up their attack.

London, Feb. 19.—The Japanese Legation here received an official dispatch from Tokio last night saying it was not true that any Japanese vessels had been destroyed so far in any of the various naval engagements, and that all necessary repairs had already been made. The Japanese fleet remains intact.

This message also denies the report that the Japanese were driven from the neighborhood of Kin Chau, after a skirmish, in which 150 Japanese were taken prisoners, and declares that the Japanese made no attempt to land at Piegong bay. It says the Japanese forces have, up to the present time, made no attempt to land at any point where they could come in contact with the Russians, and that consequently all reports of land actions and Japanese losses are untrue.

Change in Ministers.

Paris, Feb. 19.—It is announced that M. Plehoe has been replaced in the Russian ministry of finance by M. Kokov.

HEAD CUT OFF.

Huntington, W. Va., Feb. 19.—This morning near Coalburg, M. Savolani an Italian laborer, had his head cut entirely off by a stone rolling down the mountain side. Lads coasting had started the huge boulder edgewise down the mountain. Savolani saw it coming, and attempted to get out of the way but failed.

STRAINED

Relations Between Turkey and Bulgaria May End In Clash.

Vienna, Feb. 19.—Dispatches received here in the past few days indicate that the Turkish government is doing its utmost to place itself in the position where it can inflict a crushing blow on Bulgaria, should the present strained relations between the two countries develop as is generally believed they will, into actual hostilities. Turkey now has a quarter of a million seasoned troops with a striking distance of the Bulgarian frontier.

Bulgaria is not as yet fully prepared. Her reserves have not been mobilized. She is diplomatically making every effort to postpone the outbreak of hostilities, using the treaty of Berlin as a means of support in her efforts.

Austria is entitled to occupy territory as far as Mitrovitz, Bosnia, and it is generally believed she will do so in the event of war.

Balfour III.

Manchester, England, Feb. 12.—The Dispatch states that the health of Premier Balfour is alarming his friends. His recent trip to Brighton has proved ineffectual, and it is now necessary for him to take a prolonged holiday in a warmer climate in order to regain his strength.

London, Feb. 19.—Today's stock market here was nervous and lower with a reflection on the feeling on the continental bourses that other powers will become involved in the Russo-Japanese conflict.

SEOUL, Feb. 19.—The report that 3000 Russian troops had arrived at Chintienchang, opposite Wiju, on the Yalu river, is confirmed, as is the report that the Russians have occupied Wiju itself. They have 2,000 troops at Wiju, and the first collision is expected somewhere in that vicinity.

in the summer, and covered with ice and ducks in the winter.

And all these colleges and resorts connected with a fine system of electric railways equipped with the celebrated cars made by the Jewett Car company.

With great stores and groceries ready to supply every want of the human body at a moment's notice.

With all these natural resources and artificial beauties, and advantages, and with a Board of Trade consisting of two hundred members of bright, energetic and progressive professional and business men who have been in the past and will be in the future, ready, willing to give of their time, ability and money to develop our present industries, and encourage others to locate in our city, with no strikes, no boycotts, but with capital and labor sleeping in the same bed, with their arms about each other's neck, where is there a city on the American continent that will compare with Newark as a manufacturing center?

G. C. DAUGHERTY

Pictured the Possibilities and Future Growth of This Thriving and Hustling City.

"Newark's Future Growth and Possibilities," was the subject assigned to Attorney Gil C. Daugherty. Mr. Daugherty handled the subject in a complete and able manner. He said:

My subject appeals to the spirit of civic pride and opens the gates of the future with the voice of prophecy. But in this practical age the gates of the future are not opened with the voice of prophecy, but with the active brain and the industrious arm: and the future of cities like the future of individuals is determined in obedience to the great laws of cause and effect, and depends on the brain, industry, character and genius of the individuals who constitute the city. Wealth is an element of progress, but when blighted by the effeminate hand of luxury it becomes an element of decay. Culture adds to the joy of living, but when it reaches beyond the field of labor into the garden of indolence it becomes an evil and a vice.

Newark's hope for the future depends on the present fact that she has an active, industrious, energetic, progressive population. Her drones in this bee hive of industry are few, and their power of evil is small, for to be a drone is unpopular in Newark, where labor is the law of life. And God grant that it may ever be so. Twenty-three thousand people—not fossils, not drones, not sluggards—but people representative of the best races in the world, and the mixture and co-mingling of these through the power of Cupid—that greatest and best Democrat that the generations of men ever knew—are a pledge for the future which only the blind and deaf can deny or doubt.

With the air full of birds and the streams full of fish, with its rich valleys groaning under every product of Nature, with the hills filled with coal and hoisted with immense forests of timber, with the bowels of the earth under our very feet containing inexhaustible reservoirs of the cheapest, best and most convenient fuel that God in His wisdom has ever created; enough to last for a hundred years for domestic and manufacturing purposes.

With the B. & O. roads paying out millions of dollars yearly for wages, the Scheidler, McNamar, Thomas, and the Newark Machine company and the Wyeth Sled works and the Newark Steel works and the other industries I have mentioned, paying out millions more for the same purpose, with a school house in every block and a church on every corner.

With three live, enterprising, breezy newspapers which publish the truth and all the news both foreign and domestic, in all the languages, both dead and alive.

With five banks and six building associations whose aggregate assets amount to $7,000,000.

With two doctors for every microbe, and ten lawyers for every case.

With the celebrated seminaries and colleges of learning situated only thirty minutes' ride from Newark in a charming village without a saloon, gambling den or evil resort to contaminate its students, and where your sons and daughters may attend college every day and sleep under the parental roof every night.

With two large city parks shaded by natural forests, each embracing the best preserved and most renowned earthworks, built by that race of which we have no history.

With the largest body of fresh water in Central Ohio, namely, the Buckeye Lake, fifteen miles long and miles wide, well stocked with fish and frogs dred thousand loaded cars ever month. These figures prove what every loyal Newark citizen has long known—that Newark is a great steam railroad center, and that one condition of growth being a good railroad point, is with us always.

Electric Lines.

But the future city so far as transportation is concerned must have other advantages than those of steam lines. Electricity is a coming agency for the transportation of passengers and freight whose possibilities for the future, the imagination would be bold indeed that would venture to put limitations upon. But that electric railroads have a great future is conceded by all. As to electric lines Newark is favored, and full vested trains will, in three years be run through Newark from Boston to St. Louis and Chicago, and we will be on a through line of the greatest electric railroad between the two oceans. And other lines with Newark as a center will reach out and connect us with many of the other cities of the state, and along these lines magnificent suburban residences attesting the thrift and the taste of our citizens will be constructed.

Ship Canal.

But we will have in the near future not only great railroad facilities, and ever increasing and additional electric lines, but this stagnant and polluted menace to health, which threads its way through the city will in the near future become a great ship canal. Both political parties in their platforms last year pledged themselves to the developing, the deepening and widening of the canals of the state, and therefore every member of the House and Senate in the present legislature is pledged to the policy of an improved and developed canal system. This polluted waterway which has been for a generation an eye sore to the beauty, and a nose stench to the odor of Newark, and always a menace to health and life will in the near future become a thing of beauty bearing on its clean and peaceful bosom, propelled by electricity, the products of a great city and the commerce of the state. This despised part of the city abutting on the old canal, like good coming out of Nazareth, will then be an ideal location for both business and residence, and will sit like a gem by the blue waters of Lake Erie, glowing in beauty to the Ohio. No one can foretell the advantages of a great ship canal connecting us with the Lakes and with the River, for it gives us the commercial facilities of a location on each at the same time.

We have then for a great future splendid steam road facilities, and electric lines in process of construction, a great ship canal in the near future, and above all a population of the right kind of thrift, industry and mettle, and the one additional requirement is diversity in manufacturing and location close to an available fuel supply.

The continuing development in the gas fields shows a wider and ever widening area of production, and promises to Newark manufactures for years to come an abundance of this ideal fuel. But even if this gas supply should fail and there is no absolute guarantee of its permanence, we are close to the great coal fields of Coshocton and Perry counties, and on the T. & O. C. we are in touch with coal supply that the consumption of centuries will not exhaust.

Manufactures.

For these reasons and through the energy of the Board of Trade in presenting them, Newark has been chosen as a place of location by many manufacturers in the past and will continue to be so chosen in the future. The manufacturer is not the only employer of labor in an inland city, but he is the most important one. The business man, whether he deals in boots and shoes, or groceries, or hardware, or furniture, or dry goods or lumber, or runs a newspaper is an employer of labor, and as such is entitled to the support and the patronage of all who seek the prosperity of the city, and they who go to other cities to buy what they can get just as well at home are disloyal to Newark as the citizens who enlist to fight under a foreign flag against his own country.

We have a large number of manufacturing plants, strong, solid, safe, thrifty, steadily growing into wider business, like the Rugg Hatter factory, the Newark Furniture company, the Newark Steel plant, the Hardwood Lumber plant, the Bent Works, the various cigar factories, the Scheidler and McNamar Machine shops, the Jas. E. Thomas company, the Pratt Planing mill, the Agricultural works, the Ward Carriage works, and a number of other thrifty and flourishing plants of equal merit and equal prospects of ture growth. Those in their way are adding to the growth and prosperity of Newark, none the less certainly because quietly and modestly. They by virtue of their numbers are its strong pledge for future greatness. They give wide diversity to the city's manufacturing industries. Only a stagnation in all lines can stop all these. In this rough summary the larger plants deserve more than mere mention, and among these is the A. H. Hessey Glass plant with three hundred employees and a yearly pay roll of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, a plant with a rapidly developing future associated with Newark's possibilities.

The Jewett Car company with three hundred and sixty people on the pay roll at a yearly cost of wages of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. This company is making something for which there is an ever increasing demand, and if its growth keeps in line with the future demands for its cars in a quarter of a century it promises to be the very greatest plant in the city.

The E. H. Everett company has one thousand and three hundred persons in its employment, whom it pays annually five hundred thousand dollars, and is steadily growing into larger achievement. Leaving out of account those who are in school and those who are too young and too old to work and this plant employs about one-eighth of the whole population of the city.

The Wehrle company, the greatest stove plant in the world today, paid in salaries to its one thousand employees last year the sum of four hundred thousand dollars, and is paying in wages now at the ratio of five hundred thousand dollars, and when men are secured to run the present plant at its full capacity it will employ two thousand men and have a pay roll of one million two hundred thousand dollars, and will have a producing capacity twice that of any factory on earth.

But the B. & O. railroad is our greatest employer of men, and had on its pay roll one thousand nine hundred men who receive pay here and pay out in Newark nearly the sum of two million one hundred thousand dollars. In the face of these facts the future of Newark is guaranteed beyond any possibility of disaster, and it only rests with us to have faith in ourselves, to support the Board of Trade, and all enterprising citizens seeking her development and co-operate in all aims and purposes looking to her advancement, for her prosperity is ours.

EDWARD KIBLER

Spoke on Ideal City Government—He

Urge Municipal Government be

Freed from Politics

Hon. Edward Kibler, who was a member of the Ohio Municipal Code

Commission, spoke on "Ideal City

Government" as follows:

Mr. Toastmaster and Gentlemen of the Board of Trade: I have made a promise to the toastmaster that I would not address you this evening as "Gentlemen of the Jury," or a "Fellow Democrats."

Of course the ideal city government would be one which has the best form of government devisable by the ingenuity of man; in which all officers were men of the highest type of honesty, fitness and intelligence; in which the municipal revenues were neither stolen nor wasted; where no money is collected as taxes except what was needed for an economical administration of affairs; in which all public services, water, gas, electricity, transportation and the like were conducted by the municipality itself and for its own profit, and in which every police officer is a dog fancier and every fireman a fireman, and every police officer a police officer, and every fireman a fireman.

So skillfully are these various municipal industries managed by the municipal authorities of Glasgow, that they yield a snug surplus over expenses, pay all the expenses of the municipal government besides and wholly relieve the citizens from the payment of any municipal taxes whatever.

In these countries politics cut no figure in municipal government, and the Mayor of Glasgow informed me, on one occasion, that they had no municipal civil service system for the simple reason that merit was the controlling principle in the selection of officers from the Mayor down.

What is the matter with American genius, American enterprise, and American stanchness that we should suffer such an unfavorable contrast longer to exist? It is simply because American genius, enterprise and dash have not seriously been applied to the municipal problem. My own deliberate judgment is that when politics are entirely eradicated from municipal affairs, the civil service system extended to the appointment and tenure of every subordinate office, and when the municipality under to his health; as that man on that day walked out of the hall of Congress having thus relinquished a seat about to be awarded to him, methinks, a halo of glory crowned his brow. That man deserves that the business of this whole country should be suspended for five minutes in his honor.

But let us look at the Municipal situation as it is. While there are some exceptions to the rule, as a general thing the municipal governments in this country are bad in form, extravagant, expensive and inefficient, resulting in their being a great financial burden to the people. Indeed, the failure of municipal government in the United States is given as the strongest argument to show the failure of the policy of self government in this country. There is no good reason why it should not be the rule that municipal government should be as honestly and efficiently conducted as the ordinary state and federal governments.

What is municipal government but a vast business enterprise, which should be conducted on strictly business principles. To show this it only needs to be pointed out, that its functions are:

1. To preserve public peace, private property and protect the individual.
2. To make public improvements.
3. Preserve the public health.
4. To provide for a supply of the public wants, such as: water, gas, parks, cemeteries, public halls, markets.

5. To provide and expend public funds for public purposes.

I beg to assign two reasons why municipal governments are not usually conducted upon business principles, and they are:

The unlimited suffrage, and the almost complete domination of partisan politics in municipal affairs.

In municipal elections every resident of the requisite age may vote except idiots, the insane and women.

There is absolutely no educational qualification, so that so far as the power of the ballot is concerned the feeble minded inmate of the poor house has just as much influence in shaping the policy of the government and selecting its officers as the citizen with the largest property interests at stake.

We have no right to conclude that this condition of affairs is inevitable for we find that our neighbors north of the Great Lakes and our English progenitors across the sea have brought the policy and functions of municipal government to such a high standard of efficiency and excellence, that they have become the wonders of the world.

In England and Canada the municipal voters are householders, lodgers occupying quarters of the rental value of 10 pounds per year, occupiers and owners of property of the rental value of 10 pounds per year, and all women with these qualifications vote.

In the City of Glasgow for example, the municipality owns and manages its own lodging houses, bath houses, washhouses, water system taken from Loch Katrine 24 miles distant, gas system, electric lighting, garbage plant, tramways or street railways on which working men may ride one mile for a penny, municipal market system, parks, art galleries and the like.

So skillfully are these various municipal industries managed by the municipal authorities of Glasgow, that they yield a snug surplus over expenses, pay all the expenses of the municipal government besides and wholly relieve the citizens from the payment of any municipal taxes whatever.

But we can hope for such a millennium?

Alas, our municipal government is what our frail human natures make it. Unfortunately every citizen has not that high moral sense displayed by the Colorado Congressman, who recently relieved the National House of Representatives from the task of determining a contest for his seat, by announcing that the evidence produced by his opponent convinced him that his election had been accomplished by fraud of which he had no previous knowledge but which Congress was probably ready to overlook and

MUST LOOK TO THE DEMOCRACY.

The Republican party, which has several times promised a revision of the tariff schedules, does not mean to undertake that job during the present session of Congress. Senator Spooner has so declared bluntly in a speech in the Senate. When Mr. Gorman asked why, the answer was that it was because a presidential election is a disturber of business. We do not precisely see the connection, unless it be between the Republican campaign fund and inaction in tariff reforms. The Buffalo Times has the right idea when it says:

"The people are convinced that the only way to secure proper tariff reform is to place the matter in the hands of the Democratic party, which will fix the roof when the sun shines, thus affording shelter from the storms of Republican monopoly, extravagance and misrule."

New England Democratic newspapers are getting the Olney boom in good shape. Mr. Olney has the splendid good sense not to proclaim his candidacy.

That ship which recently left Honolulu loaded with fifty car loads of American meat consigned to Russian agents will be a nice morsel for Japan if one of her cruisers can overhaul it.

George B. Cox has not yet publicly announced his candidacy for United States Senator to succeed Hanna, but he is holding numerous conferences with party leaders from over the State. The public is to be kept guessing until Cox gets ready to announce himself.

Some of the Republican politicians who are very busy in the Senatorial fight have an exalted idea of a combination between Cox, Herrick and Dick. They seem to think it would be an ideal triumvirate. But how can the combination be formed when there are not three Senators to elect? There is only one.

There are only two Tafts mentioned in the list of candidates for Hanna's senatorial seat. But the fight between the other aspirants is becoming so intensely bitter that a compromise

THE PLOT UNFOLDING.

(Pittsburg Post.)

Dispatches through English sources are glistening in tears over the "inhuman outrages" being perpetrated by the "brutal Russians" at New Chwang and other Manchurian ports controlled by the Czar's government. They are also beginning to tell of "insults," "indignities," etc., heaped upon American citizens by the bloodthirsty minions of the autocrat at St. Petersburg. In other words, the deep-laid plot to plunge the United States into the maelstrom of strife in the far East is now being swiftly and audaciously exposed. Secretary Hay's note is explained.

The Post is one of the few newspapers in this country which have been sounding a warning against the imminent danger of our being drawn into the quarrel between Russia and Japan. From the inception of the affair the Post has discerned the subtle forces at work. England's sinister motive has been understood. The willingness of the administration at Washington to do under cover the bidding of England has never been doubted. But we have not been led too far to turn back. Congress is in session. Al thought that body is completely in the control of the party in power and leaps nimbly when the President cracks the whip of patronage, there is in its composition a saving quality of Democracy. The Democratic leaders in Congress on one of the Tafts may be the final solution. The question is, which one of the Tafts shall it be and how will the compromise be adjusted?

PLAIN WORDS ON CATARRH CURES

In thinking about an advertisement for to-day, we decided we would use our space for a "Short Talk on Patent Medicines," and it is likely we will tell some plain truths before we finish.

Just at this time of year the newspapers are filled with advertisements of "catarrh cures" of one kind and another. In all probability, all of them can be found on sale at our store. As leading druggists we endeavor to keep every remedy our customers want, and to allow no one to undersell us.

But we cannot guarantee these various remedies.

They may be meritorious. As to that we cannot say. We buy them from the manufacturers, and we would not sell them if we thought they were in any way injurious.

One catarrh cure we know all about, and one catarrh cure we back up with our reputation as druggists and with our solid, bona-fide guarantee.

That is Rexall Mucu-Tone.

We know how Rexall Mucu-Tone is made. We know what medicines are used in compounding it, and the scrupulous care with which it is manufactured.

We know that it is an honest, meritorious remedy that has cured thousands of chronic sufferers from every form of catarrh.

The very first dose of Mucu-Tone will brace you up, will give you new strength and hope, will convince you that at last you have found a medicine that goes right to the spot and does the work for which it is intended.

And with each succeeding dose you will feel better and better, stronger and stronger.

You will regain your appetite, will find yourself eating heartily and will feel the food is doing you good.

You will note an increase of blood—your hands and feet will be warm instead of cold and clammy; your nerves will become steady; you will sleep soundly.

Sold only at our store. Price, 50 cents and 89 cents per bottle.

Because of our knowledge and faith in Rexall Mucu-Tone we earnestly recommend this remedy to every one suffering with any form of catarrh. The other catarrh cures may be good—undoubtedly some of them are—but we are not in a position to endorse them with our reputation and our guarantee.

BOARD OF TRADE

these conditions reaches out and controls every public service, that the whole aspect of municipal situation in America will change. No candidate for municipal office should be nominated by any political party, nor be permitted to be the candidate of any political party. Every man who asks for an office should be voted for on his own individual merit. What we call civil service which we have in the municipal government in Ohio today, only in a pitiful sense, scarcely a taste of it, is simply a scheme or device to keep politics out and prevent its control of these offices. The more you extend the civil service the more you shut out politics and make the fitness of the applicant the sole qualification. When I think of the great public advantage of the City of Newark owning and controlling its own water supply, hospital, gas, electric light and street railway system, and realize that the sole reason why it does not now do so is because of the public distrust of the wisdom of committing such vast industries to the management of the politician and make them a subject of political contention, I am the more easily brought to the advocacy of the proposition in favor of the total abolition of all politics, national, state and local, from municipal affairs.

You may say this is impracticable and utopian, but it seems to me a crime that the City of Newark is today deprived of the immense advantages of the operation and control of these great public industries, and of the revenues, which by proper business management and control would surely be derived therefrom. So that I say, if a restricted ballot is intolerable to the American idea, let's work on the only other thing left, the cleansing of the municipal body from every taint of the political poison.

Responded to the Toast, "The Public Health"—Outline of What the Doctor Had to Say.

Dr. S. P. H. Stedem had been invited to speak to the Board of Trade on "The Public Health," and coming as the banquet did so close upon the receiving of the unfavorable analysis of the city water, the remarks of the speaker, who is a member of the City Board of Health, and a close student of bacteriology, were received with marked attention. Dr. Stedem, who spoke extemporaneously, said substantially:

Mr. Toastmaster and Gentlemen: We are all taught from boyhood that physic is a matter of considerable moment. The question of public health figures in history from earliest times. It is father to at least one of the great professions. From the earliest times municipalities have paid attention to the prevention of the spread of some diseases which interfere with business and commercial enterprises.

When I came to Newark, I did so because I believed the place was sickly. I was taught in school that localities of low altitude and considerate water, produce malaria and miasma, and make business for the doctor. People who come to the community naturally inquire as to what is the health of the place and the prevalent diseases.

There are certain diseases which arise in every community of large numbers such as the contagious diseases. Since I have been in Newark I have seen epidemics of diseases rampant and have seen them die out.

The report of the health officer shows that Newark enjoyed better health last year, with twice the population, than it did 10 years ago.

It is our duty to follow the rules laid down by the Board of Health for the prevention of contagion, which are largely isolated and by placarding houses.

There is nothing in medicine to prevent the spread of diseases. By contact the germs will eventually waste themselves as germs kill each other.

We are constantly worried about our water supply and the dump-grounds, but seldom consider the matter of sewage.

I attended the meeting of the Board of Health this afternoon, but am now, in a measure, ready to reconsider the resolution adopted. I have studied the water question to a great extent. Typhoid and other diseases are produced almost entirely by water. Last July when samples of the Newark water was sent to Columbus for analysis it was found to be the third best in Ohio and the best taken from a running stream. The secretary of the State Board of Health stated at that time that there was no typhoid fever from the Newark water. Today we received an analysis and it is appalling. The bacterial standard of the purity of water places 300 bacteria to 100 cubic centimeters as the limit of absolute safety from disease. In the latest analysis typhoid fever was found in dangerous quantities in every mouthful. But this analysis was not as bad as was at first supposed. I have found that the samples were taken under the most unfavorable circumstances. A plan to filter the water was received favorably. The present condition of the water may be due to the prolonged severity of the weather.

When the sewerage system was started it was supposed to be adequate for the city's use. It is now far from adequate and plans for improvement are already being made. With the extension of the sewerage system the miasmic condition of the city will be prevented to a large extent.

The public dumping ground should be farther from the city. It is now much better kept than it was in years gone by.

Smallpox dangers have been reduced all over the state. In fact, many physicians deny that we have smallpox at all.

The health officer's report shows a much smaller death rate than five years ago, and a larger birth rate.

Samples of ice taken from the canal were analyzed and the samples were found to be rich in germs that produce disease while samples of the artificial ice made from distilled water were found to be wholly free from these germs.

In many of the houses in the city gas is being burned to the actual detriment of the health of the family. There should be an outlet for all unburned gas or gas fumes in every house.

Smoke and steam also produce disease to a certain extent. I am heartily in accord with the resolution regarding the licensing of dairies adopted by the Board of Health and believe that it will tend to beneficial results by providing the people with pure milk.

Another matter that will greatly add to the public health will be the enforcement of the law requiring an examination of plumbers as to their knowledge of hygiene and sanitary plumbing.

Made a Very Happy Response to the Toast "The Electric Mule."—What He Said.

The last address of the evening was a very neatly stated response to the toast, "The Electric Mule," by Frank L. Beggs, who spoke as follows:

A member of your committee notified me that the Board of Trade would give this banquet and invited me to be present. I accepted and did it quickly for fear the invitation might be withdrawn. He then added that I would be expected to respond to the toast, "The Electric Mule," and I shall attempt to do so: but this requirement places me in the same position as that of an Irishman whose wife had just died. Now this couple knew nothing of Russian-Japanese diplomacy and actual warfare had commenced with the signing of the marriage certificate and had continued until her death ended hostilities. When about ready to start for the cemetery the undertaker informed Mike that he would be expected to ride in the same carriage with his mother-in-law. "Well," says Mike, "I suppose I'll have to do it; but I want to say it's not the occasion of all its pleasure for me."

Now I recognize the fact that any kind of a mule is a difficult subject to handle and from what I know of them they are best handled by proxy, or over a long distance telephone; but when you add electricity to him, it requires one of those fellows who rush in where angels fear to tread." Josh Billings says, "you can trust a mule with anyone whose life ain't worth more than the mule's."

I suppose on this basis, we can safely trust the Electric Mule to the Ohio Legislature. An old colored man's mule left one day in front of a drug store. The darkey tried moral suasion, i. e. faith cure and osteopathy—the old treatment—but the mule would not move. Finally he turned to a druggist and says,

"Say, boss, is you got anything in your drug store dat will move dis mule?" "Yes, I think so." "Den you get busy." The druggist took a hypodermic and fired a very powerful irritant into the mule's hind quarters. Result, the mule moved and did it so quickly that the wagon was pulled from under the darkey and he was left behind. As the mule passed out of sight, running as he never ran before, the darkey turned mournfully toward the druggist and said: "Boss, how much was dat medicine?" "Is you got any more of it?" "Yes." "Could you sell three doses for a quarter?" "Yes, I think so." "Den here's yo quartah, and you just shoot de odder two doses into de old man so he done be able to catch dat mule." Had that recipe been in the hands of Ohio's Canal commission the Electric Mule might have remained unknown to posterity and his honorable body might have escaped the misery and torture of the next hour and twenty minutes which I shall require to elucidate this subject.

"Now, I suppose your committee gave me this subject on about the same basis as the small boy 'set the hen.' Little Johnny came in one day and made the announcement that 'he had just set the old yellow hen.' "You did?" said his mamma, "and how many eggs did you put under her?" "Twenty-seven," said Johnny. "Didn't you know that she couldn't cover them?" "Corse I did. I just wanted to see the old hen spread herself."

On July 4th, 1825, a scene was enacted almost at the boundary line of the present city of Newark, which for pomp and military splendor was in keeping with the importance of an undertaking which meant so much to the future welfare and financial prosperity of the state. I refer to the opening of work on the Ohio and Erie canal. Governor Clinton of New York was present and raised the first spadeful of earth. Governor Morrow then Governor of Ohio, raised the second, after which Licking county men made short work of that first wheelbarrow load. Thomas Ewing was the orator of the occasion and there amid the cannon's roar, martial music, waving banners, enthusiastic excitement, shouts of gladness and while tears of joy trickled down the cheeks of Ohio's hardy sons, there gentlemen, upon historic ground with Old Glory waving o'er them and their hopes in the ditch they dug—was ushered in the life's work of man's noble benefactor, the old style long eared mule.

BUSINESS

SUSPENDED FOR FIVE MINUTES FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

Public Offices Closed, School Bells
Tolled and Pupils Remained Silent in Respect to Hanna.

Business generally in Newark was suspended on Friday afternoon from 1 to 1:05 o'clock as a mark of respect to the late Senator Marcus A. Hanna. All the city and county offices were closed, and all the cars on the several electric lines of the city stopped during that time. The school bells were tolled and not a word was spoken in any of the public schools for five minutes.

BURIAL

OF SENATOR M. A. HANNA THIS AFTERNOON.

Thousands Lined the Route to Pay a Last Tribute—The Funeral Services Were Simple.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 19.—The remains of Senator Hanna, after lying in state 24 hours and being viewed by nearly 50,000 people, were taken to St. Paul's under police and military escort, at 1 o'clock today. Thousands lined the route to pay a last tribute.

At the church, where admission was obtained only by card, there were 800 inside and thousands outside. The simple Episcopal ritual was recited by Bishop Leonard and Dr. McGraw, pastor. Later the body was taken to Lakeview, where it will rest for the present in a crypt in the Wade Memorial Chapel.

Followed only by a few carriages containing the family and intimate friends and without the military and police escorts that had guarded since its arrival in Cleveland, the casket was carried in the hearse down Euclid Avenue to the cemetery. The little procession was such as might follow to the grave the remains of the least important of the late senator's constituents. At Western Reserve University the students were drawn up in close lines and stood uncovered as the funeral party passed. At Lakeview car barns, a similar honor was paid by as many of the employees of the street railway company, largely owned by Senator Hanna as could be gathered. Arrived at the cemetery the casket was carried into the chapel, where, before it was deposited in the vault, the family had an opportunity during the private services to take leave of their dead.

Secretaries Taft, Cortelyou and Wilson, representing President Roosevelt, and committees from the House and Senate arrived on a special train about 9 o'clock today to take part in the Hanna funeral ceremonies.

HANNA'S LAST LETTER.
Washington, Feb. 19.—President Roosevelt and Governor Herrick, of Ohio, received the last letters written by Senator Marcus A. Hanna.

The letter to the President was an expression of gratitude to Mr. Roosevelt for calling at the Hanna apartments and inquiring as to the senator's health. The call was made a few days after the senator took to his bed. Mrs. Hanna met the President and told him of her husband's real condition. Then she went into the sick room, leaving the President in another room.

The note to the President contained the last words written by Senator Hanna, his letter to Governor Herrick having been penned a few days before. This letter was a political one, it is said. Senator Hanna urged Governor Herrick to do everything possible to avoid friction in Ohio, and to see that the Ohio delegation to the National Convention be instructed to vote for President Roosevelt's renomination.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOSEPHINE BAUSCH.

Mrs. Josephine Bausch, widow of the late Casper Bausch, died at the home of her son, Mr. Louis Bausch, Chief of the Newark fire department, 121 North Fourth street at 10:40 o'clock on Friday morning, from the effects of a paralytic stroke sustained on Tuesday morning. Although the deceased was in the 83rd year of her age, she had enjoyed the best of health up to her last illness.

The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Zimmerman and was born in Baden, Germany, on December 21, 1821. In 1842 she was married to Mr. Casper Bausch, and was the mother of ten children, four of whom were born in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Bausch came to this country over 50 years ago and settled in Paterson, N. J., where they resided for nearly ten years, when they removed to this city, where they spent the remainder of their lives. Mr. Bausch died 12 years ago.

During her long residence in Newark Mrs. Bausch had many friends to whom she had endeared herself by her many admirable traits of character. She had been a faithful and consistent member of the Catholic church all her life, and was a thorough Christian woman in every respect.

Three children survive to mourn her death, Mr. Matthew Bausch of Buffalo, N. C., and Mrs. Phil Nies and Mr. Louis Bausch of this city.

The funeral will take place from the St. Francis de Sales church on Monday morning at 9 o'clock, and the interment will be made in Mt. Calvary cemetery. The surviving members of the family have the sympathy of all their friends in their great sorrow.

ANTI-SALOON

LEAGUE OF COLORADO WANTS REV. M. W. ACTON.

Newark Man Receives an Offer from
This Western State, but Has Not Yet Accepted It.

Rev. M. W. Acton of this city, who is now state financial secretary of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League, has just received an offer to become state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Colorado, with headquarters at Denver at a salary of $2,000 a year and expenses. Mr. Acton told the Advocate Friday morning that he would not decide for two or three weeks whether he would accept the offer.

Rev. Mr. Acton preached his first sermon in a mission church in East Newark 24 years ago. Five years ago he left a large church at Portsmouth to come to Newark to build up a new church, and he succeeded in his efforts, last summer having finished the construction of the handsome new East Main street Methodist church, corner of Main and Cedar streets. In September he resigned and was succeeded by the Rev. Mr. Locke who is successfully carrying on the good work so well begun by Mr. Acton.

If Mr. Acton goes to Colorado he will hold the same position that the Rev. P. A. Baker held in Ohio until he became National superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League. The work in Ohio is now under the direction of Wayne B. Wheeler.

STATEMENT MADE BY HORACE G. DODDS

In Which He Exonerates Mr. Suthern.
As Before Stated But As Been Withdrawn.

Concerning my suit for a receiver for the Suthern-Dodds Company Five and Ten Cent store as it was printed in your paper dated Feb. 1, 1904, I desire to make this further statement:

In that petition to the court for a receiver there appears the statement: "That the defendant has secreted and appropriated to his own use money belonging to the firm in excess of $2,000, etc." This statement was made according to my best knowledge and belief at that time, but since Mr. Suthern has made such explanations and given such information as has led to an amicable agreement on all the points of difference between us and also to the withdrawal of the petition for a receiver, I desire to say that I now know of no reasons why these charges should remain against him; they have been withdrawn in the withdrawal of the suit, and I desire that the public construe them as in no way derogatory to his character. I further wish to have the papers that copied your article on "Receiver" copy also this my "Further Statement," and ask that you give this statement the same advantage of caption and position in your paper as was given to the article on "Receiver."

I freely and voluntarily make this statement and these requests out of my appreciation of the sacredness of the value of character, and out of my desire to do no injustice to Mr. Suthern or to any one else.

Valuable Dog Shot

A valuable black and white fox terrier belonging to John Scott, one of the Hotel Seiler clerks, had to be shot Thursday evening. The animal was frothing at the mouth and snapping at persons when Ben Burd telephoned the condition of the dog to Mr. Scott, who ordered the dog to be shot at once. The dog was shipped here from Bermuda Islands, and Mr. Scott refused recently an offer of $25 from Frank Hull for the animal. The dog was recently bitten by a stray dog.

MYSTERY

Of Death of Millionaire and a Pretty Maid Servant.

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 19.—(Bullitt)—Jos. B. Canfield, a young millionaire and society man, was found dead in bed in his home early today. In another part of the house a handsome young Swedish maid servant was found dead, her body still warm. The whole house was in confusion, though no marks of violence are seen on the bodies. Mrs. Canfield, who formerly was a factory hand in Canfield's rubber factory, acted as if crazy. The police are now at work on the mystery.

Canfield was about 30 years old. From the vague reports about the house, it was learned that Mrs. Canfield, wife of the dead man, was the first to discover that her husband was in trouble. Physicians were called but when the first, Dr. McGovern, reached the house Canfield was dead.

Today the medical examiner began an investigation.

Mrs. Joseph B. Canfield before her marriage was Miss McDonald. She was a handsome girl and worked at the Canfield rubber factory. Joseph fell in love with her and married her. At first the marriage was opposed by the family, but finally they gave consent. A year after the marriage there were rumors in society circles of the quarrels between the two. There were times when there were rumors of a possible divorce. Jos. B.

Backache

The ordinary every-day life of most of our women is a ceaseless treadmill of work. How much harder the daily tasks become when some derangement of the female organs makes every movement painful and keeps the nervous system all unstrung. One day she is wretched and utterly miserable; in a day or two she is better and laughs at her fears, thinking there is nothing much the matter after all; but before night the deadly backache reappears, the limbs tremble, the lips twitch—it seems as though all the ills of Satan were clutching her vitals; she "goes to pieces" and is flat on her back.

No woman ought to arrive at this terrible state of misery, because these symptoms are a sure indication of womb diseases, and backache is merely a symptom of more serious trouble. Women should remember that an almost infallible cure for all female ills, such as irregularity of periods, which cause weak stomach, sick headache, etc., displacements and inflammation of the womb, or any of the multitudes of illnesses which beset the female organism may be found in

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

When a medicine has been successful in more than a million cases; why should you say, "I do not believe it would help me?"

Will not the volumes of letters from women who have been made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince others of the virtues of this great medicine?

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak and sick and discouraged, exhausted with each day's work. If you have some derangement of the feminine organism try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will surely help you.

GET ADVICE AND HELP FREE.

If there is anything in your case about which you would like special advice, write freely to Mrs. Pinkham. She will hold your letter in strict confidence. She can surely help you, for no person in America can speak from a wider experience in treating female ills. Address is Lynn, Mass.; her advice is free and helpful.

MISS PEARL ACKERS.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—About two years ago I consulted a physician about my health, which had become so wretched that I was no longer able to be about. I had severe backache, bearing-down pains, pains across the abdomen, was very nervous and irritable, and this trouble grew worse each month.

The physician prescribed for me, but I soon discovered he was unable to help me, and I then decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and soon found that it was doing me good. My appetite was returning, the pains disappearing, and the general benefits were well marked.

You cannot realize how pleased I was, and after taking the medicine for only three months, I found I was completely cured of my trouble, and have been well and hearty ever since and no more fear of the monthly period, as it now passes without pain to me. Yours very truly,

"MISS PEARL ACKERS, 327 North Summer St., Nashville, Tenn."

BUCKEYE LAKE.

J. W. Hunt, the former proprietor of the Hunt hotel, who left here last August for Missouri, returned last Wednesday. Mr. Hunt traveled the entire distance with a horse and wagon, and gives a graphic account of the country he passed through. He traveled by way of Cincinnati, across southern Indiana and Illinois, crossing the Mississippi river into Iowa, then into Missouri through St. Louis to Danville. He traveled over the Ozark mountains for several weeks, stopping at all the small villages. Mr. Hunt says the country out there is like it is here, that is, good one place and bad in another. to be frozen to a great depth and the best ice ever known was passed over. The company started from Maple Swamp going east to Swartz' farm, turning and taking the south side of the lake past Bumcrot's and Shell Beach to the bank dividing the two bodies of water, then north on that side past Black Diamond Rosebaugh to Buckeye Lake Park where skates were pulled off and a sort of lunch was taken care of by the tired party. Then all took the Buckeye Lake tract for Hebron, arriving there somewhat tired by nevertheless pleased with the trip. If the ice stays till next week they contemplate another such trip.

The C. B. L. & N. T. Co. is improving Buckeye Lake Park by making several gravel walks and converting several acres known as Crane Pond into a pretty lake. Several parties contemplate building cottages on the hill by the observatory overlooking the lake. Those who build on the hill can have an excellent view of the lake, almost from end to end. The company is also wiring the entire park so as to make it pleasant for evening parties.

Mr. Charles E. Hollander, manager of the Newark Independent Telephone company, is in Cincinnati attending the state meeting of telephone men. Over 100 exchanges of the state are represented at the meeting.

An address on the "Independent Telephone Situation" Mr. J. B. Hoge of Cleveland said in part:

"When the Bell patents expired nine years ago there were less than three hundred thousand telephones in operation and now there are millions. In four years the long distance lines have grown as rapidly as exchanges."

"The farmers' life has been revolutionized especially in little exchanges giving them connection with the post office and county seats."

"It is conceded that the service on the country telephone the new long distance telephone company of Indiana, the independent long distance lines of Kentucky and other independent lines as good as was ever in existence."

"The through business is handled the same as coupon tickets are sold over the railroad and freight is billed over various lines. There are today over two million independent telephones in operation in the United

AT PATASKALA

M'CARTY WHO WAS BOUND OVER, WAS ARRESTED.

Prisoner "Ripped Up" the Mayor of Dresden When the Latter Sent Him to Jail.

On a charge of burglary, John McCarty, a hobo, was given a preliminary hearing before Mayor Ira Wilcox, of Dresden, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and was bound over in the sum of $300 to await the action of the next grand jury. McCarty was taken to Zanesville by Marshal Carter, of Dresden, Thursday evening, and incarcerated in the county jail.

The arrival, assignment and departure of McCarty was attendant with many exciting circumstances, and aroused nearly all of Dresden.

McCarty is said to have broken into the hardware store of J. C. Moore & Co., of Dresden, several weeks ago. He is charged with having stolen two revolvers, three razors and several knives. The merchandise was valued at $20.

Recently Marshal Carter got a "tip" that McCarty was in Pataskala. The marshal went to the later place and got his man.

McCarty was given his preliminary hearing and a stormy scene followed his binding over. After Mayor Wilcox made the announcement, McCarty turned to "hizzoner" and applied a volley of vile epithets and directed several scurilous and insulting remarks at Dresden's chief executive. The mayor's court was filled with spectators attracted by the examination, and the wordy attack by the prisoner caused much excitement.

The robbery of Moore's store occurred the night before Mayor Wilcox issued his edict against hobos. Strong circumstantial evidence connects McCarty with the case.

OHIO BRIEFS.

The following officers were elected Thursday by the Ohio Association of School Board members at Columbus. President, O. J. Needham, Dayton; first vice president, William Burns, Coshocton; second vice president, Dr.

Prine, Piqua; secretary, J. A. Williams of Columbus; executive committee, B. Schlessinger, Xenia; R. R. Cox, Steubenville; H. S. Prophet, Lima; George W. Harper, Cincinnati; F. J. Godfrey, Celina; and J. W. Swaidner, Springfield.

David Bruno, a ten year prisoner at the penitentiary, was put out of doors Thursday and told to "walk or freeze." Bruno has refused to work and all prison punishments have been unavailing.

A fire Thursday damaged the Hamilton county infirmary $1,000. A panic of the inmates was only averted by the coolness of the superintendent.

NEW STORE

Of the Powers-Miller Company is to Open April First in the Rebuilt Block.

Mr. William C. Miller, secretary-treasurer of the Powers-Miller company announced Friday morning that everything would be in readiness to open the new store in the refitted rooms in the Union block on April 1, which is the date toward which every one connected in any way with the company is now looking forward.

The buyers for the various departments have about completed their work in the large cities, and already much of the stock is arriving, which will continue from now until the opening. Everything is new and up to date and as fast as it comes to Newark is taken either to the store room on Church street or the Tucker room on East Main.

The opening of this rehabilitated store will mark an epoch in the commercial life of the city, and is being anticipated by every one in Newark, who is interested, with a high degree of expectancy.

The man who last summer predicted a severe winter is now congratulating himself and thinking of going into the propter business.

Before long an interurban express will be flying from Zanesville to Columbus, making stops only at Newark and Hebron.

Frank L. Beggs knows what to say and he says it well in an after dinner speech.

Newark has today 23,000 people, but before the year ends the population will exceed 25,000.

TONIGHT

The Company Which Was Here Last Night Will Again be at Taylor Hall, Y. M. C. A.

It is very seldom indeed that all the artists in a company do such uniformly excellent work as did all the performers in the Nellie Peck Saunders company in Taylor Hall last night.

Of course Nellie Peck Saunders is the shining attraction. Her readings were very greatly enjoyed and she received repeated encores. Mr. Charles E. Clarke has a beautiful baritone voice and he sings with an ease and grace that is seldom surpassed. Miss Josephine Gamble's work on the violin and Miss Hoffman's accompaniments on the piano were as fine as anything heard in Taylor all for many a day.

The standard which the association has been able to set up in this year's course was not lowered in the least by last night's concert, and it is indeed fortunate that they are available for another entertainment tonight, announcement of which appears in another column.
